Donation for Ludwig Uhland School

eXtra4 finances workshops of the Friends of the school Association

18 January 2023: More media competence for its pupils is something that is very close to the heart of the Friends of the Ludwig Uhland School in Birkenfeld Association. That is why the committed parents organise workshops on mobile phone use and the sensible application of social media for pupils. With a donation, Ferdinand Eisele GmbH supports this project at the local primary, secondary and intermediate school under its eXtra4 Labelling Systems brand, so that the children there not only take home curriculum content, but also important things for life from the lessons.

This is where the support association becomes active in order to realise projects for the children that would otherwise not be feasible with school funds. For the school with its focus on the natural sciences, the media competence of its pupils is one of the relevant skills for holding one's own in today's world. For this reason, the association has commissioned the well-known social pedagogue and Youtuber Clemens Beisel with workshops for grades 5-7:

Mobile phone times were put to the test, the flood of news was examined and contained, and internet etiquette was taught for better manners on the net. In the end, the children were enthusiastic and so competent that they were even able to show their parents new things about the topic. A corresponding parents' workshop is therefore already being considered by the association.

Ferdinand Eisele can well imagine supporting this financially as well. Digital skills are in demand and fit in with the activities of their subsidiary eXtra Software+Service GmbH as a software company. That is why, in the opinion of the management, local commitment in particular must be supported, which helps to build up competences here locally.
